The Royal Society of Biology at 1 Naoroji Street

The Royal Society of Biology offers professional and affordable meeting room facilities at its Naoroji Street offices in central London.

Our newly refurbished contemporary conference facilities have complimentary guest Wi-Fi, AV equipment and catering facilities. Once an old Victorian school, all rooms feature high ceilings and abundant natural light allowing for a perfect working environment. Plus, our team will be on hand to support you throughout your event. For a space with a modern flourish and plenty of history, the RSB at 1 Naoroji Street is an ideal option.

The Royal Society of Biology is a registered charity and your event will also help support our charitable aims. The RSB works with, and on behalf of, the bioscience community towards improving the understanding of biology and improving life for all.

We are a 10-minute walk from Angel station and 15 minutes away from Kings Cross.
